

March Of Dimes Campaign Begun; Bresnan Asks Help On Weekend

The 1952 March of Dimes opened yesterday in Arlington, to run for the full month of January. Its avowed objective is to put Arlington's fight against polio on a "pay as you go" basis after four successive years in which expenditures of funds for Arlington victims exceeded the money collected in this community.

Don Bresnan, chairman of the local drive, stated this week that twenty-nine local residents (including twenty-three children) were provided with hospital and clinic care in 1951, with eleven of them being classified as "new" cases. $8,648.35 was spent through November 30th on Arlington people for hospital care, appliances and braces, physical therapy, clinic, and travel to and from treatments. Only $7,164.23 was raised in Arlington, which necessitated borrowing from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Headquarters "disaster fund" to balance the books for the year. This fund consists of surplus funds from other communities. While no quota exists, the local committee would like to raise enough in Arlington to take care of our local patients without having to borrow from others.

Every person in Arlington afflicted has received help in some form from the March of Dimes, with several cases receiving over $2000 in assistance and the majority running into hundreds of dollars.

Polio is the only epidemic disease still on the increase in America. Many people are not aware of the increase because cases are widely distributed rather than concentrated in specific areas.

The local organization has formed committees to conduct the most intensive campaign ever put on in Arlington. "Here is your opportunity," stated Chairman Bresnan, "to support a drive that can spend every cent received here in your own home town on neighbors who are unable to bear the full financial burden." Coin containers will be in stores, March of Dimes cards will be mailed to over 11,000 families, and posters and hospital display material will be in store windows — including the famous Iron Lung and Rocking Bed — so that all may see the equipment that is purchased with contributions.

The local headquarters is located at 14 Medford Street, Arlington Center, and is open from 2 to 9 p.m. daily. Volunteers are eagerly at work on the many details necessary for making the campaign a success. More volunteers are needed to give one hour each of their time on Saturday and Sunday the 5th and 6th, to fold letters. "Drop in at the headquarters or call AR 5-8300, as your help is urgently needed," said Mr. Bresnan. "Many hands lighten the work for all."

TODAY'S meditation

from The Upper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

"I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor things present, nor things to come," shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord." (Romans 8:38, 39.) Read Philippians 4:10-15.

He was an Anglican priest, head of a missionary institution. It was said of him that he worked in the garden, chopped wood, and mended roads as naturally as he lectured, meditated, and prayed.

Later in life he fell prey to cancer. When he knew the worst, he said: "It is about time I had something to suffer. I have had little suffer so far." The last time he celebrated the communion, he had to sit during the reading of the Scriptures and lean on the altar as he pled for the world to accept the one, full, perfect, and sufficient sacrifice — the world's Saviour.

During the last few months he seemed surprised to find that his friends had such a deep affection for him. Indeed, not his friends only, for all who knew him and saw his implicit trust and unswerving faith loved him. They saw what it meant to be a Christian, to walk with God.

PRAYER
O Father, my strength is in Thy night, Thy night alone. I put my trust in Thee. In storm, in stress, in trial, in adversity, in the dark day, Thou wilt sustain me. Keep me, O Lord, faithful to Thee, even as Christ, Thy Son, remained faithful. In His name I pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
In God, in Him alone, I find my strength.

Post Office Now Back To Normal Says Postmaster Roger McGinnis

Normalcy once more prevails at the Arlington post office. No longer are the crowds of people flocking there with parcels and letters for friends and loved ones. The piles of mail that could be seen through the windows have vanished and extra cases and tables have been stored away until next Christmas.

Under normal conditions the Arlington office has a personnel of 76 employees. During Christmas an additional 350 temporary employees assisted the regulars — from December 17th to December 24th. In the past all letters mailed in Arlington were collected and taken to the Somerville Post Office for processing and distribution, but this year a new system was inaugurated and all the Arlington mail, along with that of Lexington, was handled in the basement of the Arlington office, in quarters formerly occupied by the Ration Board. Records show that, the period from December 14th to December 24th, 1,272,895 letters were postmarked, sorted, and dispatched. The new plan for handling the mail, put into effect by Acting Postmaster Joseph P. Finn of the Greater Boston area, resulted in a much faster handling of mail. It also developed that 33% of the mail canceled at this office was for delivery in Arlington. The letters from all other post offices throughout the country numbered 2,325,675.

Due to the cooperation of much of the public in mailing early, delivery of mail was made in good time. Another new feature advanced by Acting Postmaster Finn was a Sunday morning delivery by temporary carriers. It is estimated that 75,000 letters were delivered Sunday, thus preventing an accumulation that would have had to be handled on Monday. Also on Sunday, the regular carriers, and clerks worked inside the post office preparing mail for delivery by temporary carriers. In order to handle the vast volume of mail in a short time it was necessary to maintain a 24 hour schedule of employment. The racking of mail by carriers assigned to all-night duty also was instituted, thus relieving congestion during the day.

The new features adopted this year resulted in a much more efficient and speedier handling of the mail," stated Arlington Postmaster Roger McGinnis. He added, "the employees of the Arlington Post Office want to thank the public for their cooperation in mailing early and for facing the mail and tying it in bundles. This was a tremendous help."

HARDY P.T.A. PRESENTS

"YOU CAN BEAT THE A-BOMB" The Hardy Parent-Teacher Association will present the much discussed film, "You Can Beat The A-Bomb" at its regular meeting next Tuesday night in the Hardy School auditorium at 8 o'clock. This film, presented through the cooperation of the Massachusetts Civil Defense Committee, has been lauded by all who have seen it.

The film gives encouragement and a feeling of security and proves that with the proper education and preparation it is possible to survive atomic attack and its after effects. It gives a visual demonstration of how to take care of oneself and one's family.

Believing that parents and teachers have in their care our greatest national treasure, the Hardy Association has postponed its previously-scheduled program in order to present this film as a public service. The public is welcome to attend.

Daniel J. McFadden, local Defense director, has been invited to attend, and he will be prepared to answer questions on a local basis. Mrs. Samuel R. Carlisle will present the program. Mrs. Walter Schumacher will have charge of the social hour.

Scout's Chief Executive To Take New Post

Following nine years as chief executive of Sachem Council and as director of Camp Sachem, the Council's camp in Antrim, New Hampshire, Philip Johnson last week announced his formal resignation, which became effective January 1.

Coming to Sachem in September 1942, Mr. Johnson directed and guided the growth and expansion of the scouting movement in the Council's nine towns and cities, including Arlington, Belmont, Concord-Lincoln, Carlisle, Lexington, Bedford, Waltham, and Watertown. In 1942 the membership totalled 2650 boys and young men enrolled in cub packs, troops, and senior or explorer units. Today the enrollment figure has reached nearly 4000.

At the mid-winter banquet of Camp Sachem's honor society — the Order of the Nikiwigi — held last week, Mr. Johnson was presented with two beautiful gifts, an electric razor and a book of memoirs with messages, comments, and words of reflection from many of the 185 "Niks." Mr. Johnson, in accepting these gifts said, "Of the few things we find today which are not price-tagged are friends, true friends. I shall always hold these fine gifts as priceless mementos of true friendship and loyalty from the finest group of associates in the world. In leaving Sachem, I leave many fine and lasting friendships. Good success to you all."

While Mr. Johnson's plans for a new post are not complete at this time, it is expected he will locate in the New York-New Jersey area.

(YAWN) "I LIKE TO SLEEP SUNDAY MORNING"

"It is not really fair to say, 'Sunday is my only chance to sleep late, to read the funnies, to mend my clothes, to play golf.' Actually Sunday offers you your only chance to know that you are making a life as well as a living, to consider how many of your week's activities are worth doing, to spend a long, unhurried period of cultivating acquaintance with the eternal, to meet your friends with the one relationship of brotherhood in mind.

"Take advantage of this 'only chance' in your week! Take your place in church with leisurely promptness each Sunday morning."
 —From "HOMIOPES"

THE NEED FOR SCRAP

No doubt you have noted the serious situation facing the country today as regards the shortage of steel.

Steel mills and foundries have been operating at top capacity, and scrap today is being consumed at an annual rate of slightly more than 36,000,000 gross tons. That's 50 per cent more than the peak production during World War II.

Charles E. Wilson, Director of Defense Mobilization, declared he was "shocked" at the prospects of the winter's steel production.

Manly Fleischmann, DPA-NPA Administrator, stated "Time is the factor that can mean the balance between peace and war, between victory and defeat. . . this is no longer a shortage. . . it is an emergency."

If you are in a position in industry or elsewhere to help this urgent situation, won't you personally try to do something about it? It's just one of many ways in which help of the ordinary citizen is necessary today.

Roger Babson's Column

I am not condoning inflation. It is bad. But there is no legitimate excuse for the increase in prices and cost-of-living. If people had been worried about inflation in the thirties as they are today, inflation would not have happened. It is just as bad now to fear that inflation will "bust the country" as it was then to ignore it.

Let's Look At The Record

After every great war until now, there has been a decline in the cost-of-living. After the Civil War the cost-of-living gradually declined until 1896. After World War I, beginning in 1920, it declined, then rose, then fell, reaching a low point in 1933. It fluctuated for a few years and again increased during World War II. The natural thing would have been for it to be on the decline again today. If it followed the course of all previous wars—the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the Mexican War, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, and World War I—we should now have deflation instead of inflation.

The truth is that the present trend is contrary to previous economic history. Inflationary prices are due to organized labor, aided by the politicians in reducing working hours. Labor leaders yell about the high cost-of-living and blame it on "inflation"; but they will not tell you the real cause for inflation. This is not necessarily a criticism of labor unions. I have always defended collective bargaining. The fact remains, nevertheless, that if labor leaders had been reasonable the cost-of-living would have gone down following World War II.

No Reason To Fear The U. S. Will Bust

The talk now is that the armament program will "bust the country", but I don't believe this. Bankers point to the fact that an expenditure of $50 billion a year on armaments will either result in taxes so high that the people cannot stand them or else will cause our government to get into terrible debt. The facts do not uphold this nonsensical talk. Labor leaders can solve the problem whenever they wish, and this will not require a reduction in "take home" wages. Fifty billion dollars a year can be spent on armaments, the cost-of-living can be reduced, federal employees can continue to hold their jobs, the government can operate with a surplus instead of a deficit, and taxes can be reduced by extending the working day from eight hours to ten hours without a pay increase.

The total income of the country for 1951 was about $275 billion. Of this amount about $175 billion went to wage-workers on the basis of an eight-hour day. If we all worked two hours more—which would be no longer than our fathers worked—this would be equivalent to increasing production 25%. This could solve our inflation problem and pay for all our military preparations. To talk about Russia waiting until our country is busted is the "bunk". Of course we will sometime have another business depression for trying to get something for nothing, but if such threatens our existence, it can quickly be cured by all of us working longer and harder. By doing this now we would have Russia licked once and for all. No wonder the Communists and fellow travelers are urging labor to resist a longer work day.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The late New York columnist, O. O. Macintyre often claimed "the biggest rubes in the world are found along Broadway". Today he would include Washington bureaucrats.

The Defense Production Administration is staffed thickly in top positions with Broadway "rubes". The recent DPA announcement on the newspaper situation indicates how little national knowledge most bureaucrats possess.

But in the next sentence, the report says nothing will happen in the near future, because no priorities are planned at this time for construction of new plants. DPA uses a large quantity of scarce newspaper to announce nothing will be done.

Washington observers point to this "ring-around-the-rosy" action by DPA as another example how bureaucrats are led around by the nose when the interests of small business are concerned.

The U. S. newspaper supply is closely controlled by a small group, and to meet the shortages, this group has continuously raised prices threatening the existence of weekly newspapers.

But many things have thrown a scare into the firms controlling newspaper supply. One is that the Senate Small Business Committee, headed by Sen. John Sparkman, Ala., is investigating.

Sen. Lister Hill, also of Alabama, announces a bill to provide means by which concerns can produce newspaper as necessary to protect and preserve the last guardians of the American free press. . . the independent weekly newspaper.

Of course, those who control the newspaper supply do not want independent competition springing up, so the Defense Production Administration took action, to block any constructive action.

It is not presumed that anyone in DPA will ever be found to have received deep freezers or milk coats because of this action. But the very language of the DPA report on the subject shows that biggest "rubes" in the world are bureaucrats.

The Senate Small Business Committee has found that the nation's 9000 weekly newspapers use between 4 and 5% of the newspaper supply while the government alone uses 7%.

But DPA reports as follows: "There is a growing number of weekly newspapers in the United States competing for available newspaper. This group, consists mostly of religious, labor and fraternal publications, and consumes about three per cent."

Thus, officials of the DPA went on record as not knowing what makes the nation run.

Briefly, and airily they dismiss the importance of the 9000 American weekly newspapers of general circulation that reach more than 15,000,000 homes, and are read by more than a third of the entire national population.

It is easy to see how monopoly can pull the wool over eyes of bureaucrats as stupid as these.

Perhaps their stupidity makes these officials think the newspaper being given to Tito's Yugoslavia is being used for a free press.

HERBERT HOOVER, shown above with Edward A. Sherman of the Mass. Committee for the Hoover Report, is pictured at a radio interview in Boston. The ex-President praised the work of the state committee and urged further work in cleaning up bad government practices.

Ex-President Hoover, In Boston, Lauds Work Of State Commission

Former President Herbert Hoover says "I told you so." In a radio interview with Edward A. Sherman, executive director of the Massachusetts Committee for the Hoover Report, our former Chief Executive declared that what we have seen exposed in the past year is more dishonesty in officials and departments of government than we have even known in our history. He warned that unless this evil was stamped out "to the last official concerned" the United States would "decline and fall like the great republics of the past."

Speaking on the program "Reducing the Federal Wasteline," broadcast by the Massachusetts Committee for the Hoover Report, Mr. Hoover asserted that "it is not just common honesty we require in government but integrity lifted to the level of sacred honor."

He singled out for particular criticism scandals in the tax-collecting agencies and said, "I have no doubt that if the Hoover Commission's recommendations on Collectors of Internal Revenue and on other political appointees had been accepted two and one-half years ago — when they were made — these scandals would not have occurred. The Commission condemned the present method of selecting tax collectors. The determination of their fitness is pretty much based on their ability to get votes or rewards for doing so."

Mr. Hoover emphasized that there are three things wrong with the present system: first, obligation to local bosses; second, lack of professional competence; and third, absence of standards of integrity.

He pointed out that the Hoover Commission recommended that the posts of Collectors of Internal Revenue be filled through the Civil Service Commission, a bipartisan, semi-judicial body, after first a "vigorous inquiry into the loyalty, character and integrity of applicants."

"Then, it requires a vigorous examination to determine their competence for each special field," Mr. Hoover declared. "Thus these appointments are made with a background of merit, not on ability to get votes or please some political bosses."

He praised the efforts of the Citizens Committee which has for more than two years been working for acceptance of the proposals urged by the Hoover Commission. "The Committee has done a magnificent service," he said.

The only living ex-President contended that the Hoover Commission reforms could save the country more than $5 billion a year. Putting it another way, it amounts to about $200 for every family in the nation. "We must set our house in order," Mr. Hoover emphasized, "re-examine the basic blueprints of our Republic, insist upon the fundamental standards of ethics, and install better organization in government."

in one of the local Protestant churches. That service will be the first part of Arlington's answer to "The Call."

Christian Science Service

"As for God, his way is perfect." (II Samuel 22:31) This is the Golden Text from the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God," to be read at Christian Science Services this Sunday. Passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include this one: "Ignorance of God is no longer the stepping-stone to faith. The only guarantee of obedience is a right apprehension of Him whom to know aright is Life eternal." (Science and Health, Pref. vii; 17-20) Corresponding readings from the Bible include this verse from Job 22:21, "Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby shall come unto thee."

WORLD'S LARGEST LIVING SIGN! After 13 years, the scene pictured above has become a familiar sight to air travelers over northern Indiana. Occupying an area 250 feet high by one-half mile in length, the 8200 pine trees spelling the name have now reached an average height of 20 feet. Seven rows of trees planted 6 feet apart form the letters. The huge sign is located 10 miles west of South Bend, Indiana on Studebaker's 900-acre proving ground, where the new 120-horsepower Studebaker V-8 engine was test-driven for hundreds of thousands of miles.

Two Girls Missing, One Found: Two Men Home After Absences

Mr. Keen, tracer of lost persons, could set up a profitable office in Arlington if events of the past week are any criterion. Two girls are reported as missing, and two men and another girl have returned home or been found after having been reported missing.

The girls now missing are Joan Hillard of 37 Allen Street, a 17-year-old, and Bernice Donnelly, an 18-year-old girl friend from Cambridge. Joan was reported missing by her sister, Mrs. Ann Corbett of the Allen Street address and was described as 5 ft. 7 in. in height, 135 pounds in weight, blonde, with blue eyes and light complexion. She was dressed in rolled-up blue dungarees, a maroon jacket with gray sleeve stripes, black loafers, and ankle socks. Her companion, also reported to Arlington police as missing by Mrs. Corbett, was not described in Arlington records, coming under Cambridge jurisdiction.

According to Mrs. Corbett, the girls may have gone to Ossipee, N. H.

Another girl, Claire Ryan of 71 Hibbert Street, was found by Arlington police officer William White with aid from a Brookline police officer living in Brookline. She had left home October 29, and her parents had requested aid in locating her. She is temporarily staying at the House of the Good Shepherd, with further consideration to be given her case tomorrow, January 4.

Location of the girl resulted from good, plodding work on the part of Officer White plus a tip received from the owner of the Brookline house where the Ryan girl was staying. Mrs. Ryan said that her daughter had been doing housework in Brookline. She was found Sunday, December 29, as a result of an appeal from her parents to return home by Christmas which was carried in a Boston paper.

Robert F. Kilcoyne of 49 Appleton St., who had been reported as missing from home on December 24th, was said by his sister, Miss Phyllis Kilcoyne of the same address to have returned home Christmas morning. Police were not so notified, however, until Thursday the 27th.

Another man, a resident of the Russell Street area, was reported to be missing from home at about 1:00 a.m. Sunday morning. His whereabouts had been unknown since 3:00 p.m. Friday. Radio and teletype messages were sent out by police, but the man was reported as returned home on Sunday night.

On Sunday evening Mrs. Corbett called police to report she had a call from Joan, who said she was in New Jersey. Mrs. Corbett asked police to check it, which they did via teletype. Following a reply from Linden, N. J., police that the girl was there, Mr. Corbett stated that he would go to New Jersey for her.

Jupiter, largest planet in the solar system, is 391,000,000 miles from Boston at the present time and is 318 times the size of the earth. It would take a jet plane traveling at 600 miles per hour more than 70 years to reach Jupiter. And even if he managed to avoid Jupiter's 11 encircling moons, the pilot would find the temperature of 200 degrees below zero hard to take!

Two other medical offices will be housed in the newly-purchased property. (Polaroid Photo by Arlington News)

A Distinguished General

At a public banquet it was noticed that a distinguished general turned down all the wine glasses grouped about his plate. A lady sitting beside him asked, "Do you ever drink wine, general?" "No, madam, never," was the courteous reply. "I don't wish to be impertinent," said the lady, "but I'd like to know why a person of your age and character shouldn't enjoy the pleasure of an occasional glass of wine."

"Perhaps an occasional glass wouldn't hurt me," said the general smiling. "But that young fellow over there" — he indicated a handsome youth at another table — "is my son. If I don't drink, he won't. If I do, the chances are he'll follow my example. I turn down the wine glasses — and you see he has done the same." — Sunday School Home Journal.

Quote For Today

(Senator Leverett Saltonstall, Sunday October 7th, at the North Middlesex Congregational Conference, held in Billerica)

"I find it very difficult to agree with those who claim, as some have recently done, that the strength and spirit of religion, as exemplified by all our churches ought not to be mobilized against that tyranny of the mind and the body which threatens from without. I believe it absolutely essential that all the strength and all the magnificent resources of free religion be enlisted in every fight against any tyranny over the minds of men. Without the application of religious strength and energy, we cannot hope to remain free."

THE PTA IS NONPARTISAN

Parent-Teacher associations, their officers and members, in their parent-teacher relationships, abstain from partisan activities and discussions including the endorsement of candidates for public office. The name of the association and the names of its officers in their official capacities may not be used in connection with any partisan issue or for any partisan candidate. However, this nonpartisan policy does not affect authorized PTA Congress activities in the field of legislation.

In striking contrast to the situation during World War II is the lagging donations by women in the current crisis. A breakdown of donors in this area shows, only 25 per cent of blood contributions made by women with 72 per cent by men. In the last war both sexes were evenly matched in donations.
